

Study Programme: Architecture
Course Unit Title: Housing for contemporary metropolis
Course Unit Code: AP05A
Name of Lecturer(s): Maraš Igor, Miškeljin Ivana, Todorov Marko
Type and Level of Studies: Master
Course Status (compulsory/elective): elective
Semester (winter/ summer): summer
Language of instruction: english
Mode of course unit delivery (face-to-face/distance learning): face-to-face
Number of ECTS Allocated: 5
Prerequisites: none
Course Aims: Developing the ability to think, articulate and design different types of housing, with a particular emphasis on complex and heterogeneous conditions in contemporary cities and their impact on changes and transformations of residential buildings and complexes
Learning Outcomes: Ability for independent and group work on establishing connections and understanding the relationship between social and spatial context and housing, through the process of researching and designing residential buildings and complexes.
Syllabus. Housing as one of the dominant forms of change of contemporary cities; Different levels and lines of transformation and development of residential buildings from individual to collective, from unit to complex, from spatial to infrastructural; The role of housing as a place that reflects the values and ideals of the society in which it emerges; An analysis of historical predecessors and an understanding of the forces and relations that lead to specific spatial forms; Understanding the relationship between: city and building; individual and collective; private and public domain
Required Reading: Relevant literature in English, tbd
Weekly Contact Hours:2	Lectures: 3	Practical work: 2
Teaching Methods: Lectures, exercises (making the projects), consultations, exam.
Knowledge Assessment (maximum of 100 points):
Pre-exam obligations	points	Final exam	points
Attendance
Computer exercises
Tests (4x)

